

Good Morning, BGBC,

As announced on Sunday, we are opening up our COVID protocols a small amount starting the first Sunday in September. Instead of drafting an updated document, we will simply communicate via email and Sunday morning announcements. Here are the changes you need to know about.

Depending upon staffing, children's church is open to meet. As with the schools, parents are free to decide if and how their children attend. Also note that it is appropriate to keep children with you in the morning service. A little bit of baby noise can bring a smile to everyone's face.

We will remove some of the tape from the piano side of the church. We encourage families that have already expanded their social bubbles to sit on this side of the church. The organ side of the church will remain taped to provide more physical distancing.

The face-covering requirement is relaxed. However, we encourage you to keep a mask with you and use it when approaching fellow parishioners who are being more cautious. Politeness goes a long way! Our ushers will continue to cover their faces while collecting the offering. We encourage all to continue spreading out after the service and taking advantage of the weather to fellowship outside near the front porch.

The elders want to emphasize a spirit of grace and mercy. We admire the many families of our church who have shown patience, deference, humility, faithfulness and even joy!

With brotherly kindness in Christ,
BGBC Elders
